Facilities

Hand-Purvis Conference Room

The Dunning Hall Conference Room, Room 213, was originally shared by Economics and the School of Business.

In the 1990s it was named in honour of Richard J. Hand (Dean School of Business) and Doug Purvis (former Head of the QED and JDI Director).

When the Business moved across the street the Conference Room became fully controlled by the Department of Economics.

In 2010 the JDI upgrade the chairs, whiteboard, projector and electrical service in the room.

Urquhart Reading Room

The Urquhart Reading Room is on the third floor of Dunning Hall.

In 1992 it was named in honour of Mac Urquhart.

In 2013 the JDI renovated the Reading Room to serve as a flexible multi-purpose study and presentation space.

The Seminar Room and the Breakout Zones in the Main Room can be booked for occasional use.

Main Room
The area inside the Urquhart Reading Room that is outside the accordion doors.
6 large library tables.
Approximately 40 chairs.
3 breakout zones: display monitor plus whiteboard.

Seminar Room

The area inside the Urquhart Reading Room enclosed by sound-proof accordion doors
Capacity: Approximately 15
Large Whiteboard and display

Department Lounge

Adjacent to both the Conference Room and the JDI Offices, the Lounge includes a full kitchen and relaxed seating.

Source URL (retrieved on Mar 3 2015 - 02:33): http://jdi.econ.queensu.ca/content/facilities